Neurology

A neurologist treats disorders and diseases of the nervous system (the brain, spinal cord, and nerves) medically rather than surgically.

Psychiatry

A psychiatrist is a medical doctor who has undergone further studies to diagnose and treat mental illness. Some psychiatrists specialize in adults or children, while others treat all age groups. Some psychiatrists also treat chemical dependency problems (alcoholism/substance abuse) in adults or adolescents.

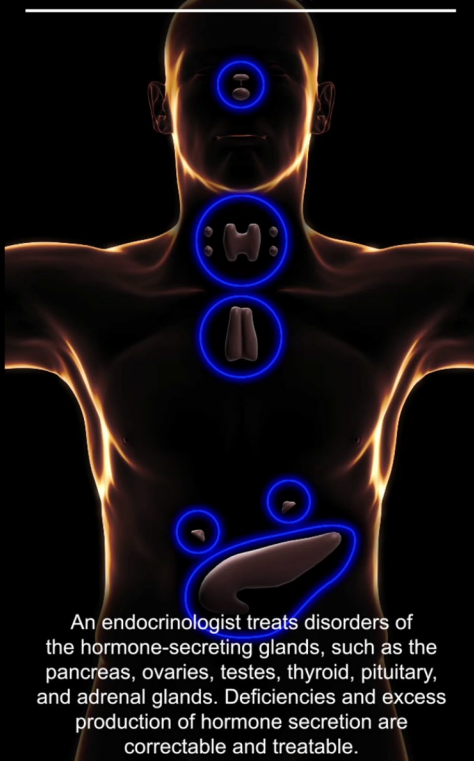

Bariatric Surgery

A bariatric surgeon performs various surgical procedures to treat obesity by modification of the gastrointestinal tract, in order to reduce nutrient intake and/or absorption.

Endocrinology

An endocrinologist treats disorders of the hormone-secreting glands, such as the pancreas, ovaries, testes, thyroid, pituitary, and adrenal glands. Deficiencies and excess production of hormone secretion are correctable and treatable.

Vascular Surgery

A vascular surgeon performs surgery on the major blood vessels.

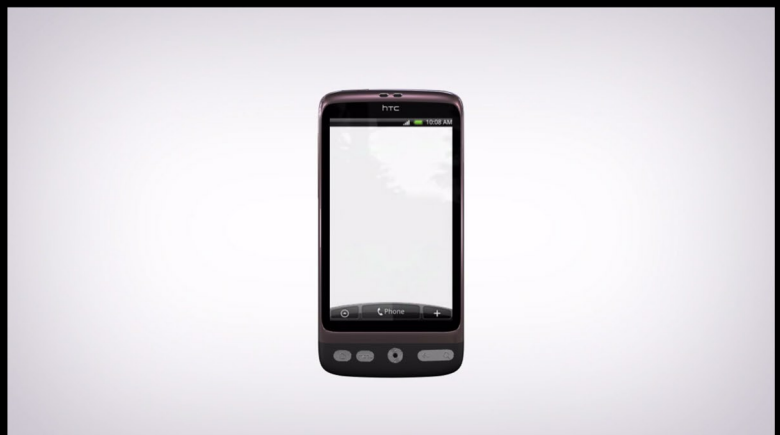

Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation

Physiatrists evaluate patients to determine the causes of disabilities. They also design rehabilitation programs to help patients return to work or achieve maximum independence.
